Three Bayites Receive Honor As Top Teens

The Outstanding Americans Foundation announced that seniors Martha Heller, Richard Berrong, and John Franke have been selected from Whitefish Bay high school as Outstanding Teenagers of America for 1969.

The students, nominated for this honor by their school, will compete for state and national awards in the Outstanding Teenagers of America program.

The Outstanding Americans Foundation, a non-profit foundation dedicated to honoring, inspiring, and encouraging young people to take full advantage of the opportunities in America, sponsors this awards program annually.

The recipients of this honor were selected on the basis of ability and achievement. They will compete with other winners in their state for the Governor's Trophy awarded annually to the most outstanding teenager in the state. Each of the 50 state winners will be eligible for one of the Two National Outstanding Teenagers of America awards and college scholarships, made available by the Outstanding Americans Foundation.

Mr. John Putman, President of the Foundation, has said it is the goal of this awards program "to recognize and encourage the ability and achievements of today's young people. They are America's leaders of tomorrow."

The Outstanding Teenagers of America awards program is guided by a distinguished Board of Advisors representing major youth organizations and educational institutions. Headings this Board of Advisors is Doug Blankenship, Past National President of the U.S. Jaycees. Serving with him are other notable civic leaders in the United States.

Holiday Events Highlighted by Dance, Assembly

Christmas Dance Set for Dec. 23

As the Christmas season draws near, thoughts of the students at Whitefish Bay high school turn toward the annual Christmas dance. This year's dance, sponsored by Youth Council, will be held the evening of Mon., Dec. 23, from 8:30-11:30 in the gymnasium.

Freddy and the Freeloaders will provide the entertainment. As in the past, form of dress will be semi-formal, and attendance is limited to sophomores, juniors, and seniors.

The theme of this year's dance is "Sock it to me Santa." Decorating will be done by Youth Council members on Sat., Dec. 21. A total of 25 trees — one large one and 24 smaller ones will be brought in for the dance.

Tickets can be purchased from Youth Council members for $1.50 a couple.

Many other recreational events will take place over the holidays. On Dec. 26, 27, and 30, an alumni tournament of basketball will be held in the new fieldhouse. Besides the alumni tournament, the fieldhouse will be open for basketball practice. There will also be an opportunity to swim in the new pool.

Practicing for the Christmas assembly are Paul Primeau, Natilie Brown, Melinda Marcus, Mary Lorenz, Ken Palmer, and Mollie Altenhofen. The assembly will be on Dec. 18 during a 5th hour homeroom.

Holiday Assembly To Be on Dec. 18

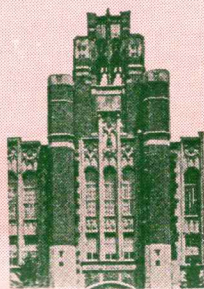

The annual Christmas assembly will be held during fifth hour on Thurs., Dec. 19. Featured will be selections by the Varsity Choir and "The Children's Story" by the acting classes.

The Varsity Choir, under the direction of Mr. Kenneth Beall, will open with "Rejoice in the Lord" by Theron Kirk and then present three numbers from "The Nutcracker Suite" by Peter I. Tchaikovsky—"Overture," "Dance of the Flutes," and "Trepak Dance."

The dramatic presentation of "The Children's Story" directed by Mr. Frank Laycock, will conclude the assembly. The play is a drama dealing completely in the future. It takes place in America after a bloodless war in which the evil element has been victorious. The plot centers around what happens to a classroom of children, representing the whole country, when this power takes over.

Natalie Brown '69 as Miss Tharden portrays the teacher from the time before the war. Terry Knight '70 is the new teacher who replaces Miss Tharden after the war and slowly indoctrinates the children in the class. The children are played by Diane Precourt '70, Dan Teplin '71, Mary Lorenz '69, Dave Kozak '69, Paul Primeau '69, Melinda Marcus '69, Ken Palmer '69, and Molly Altenhofen '69.

Modern Dance Holds Tryouts For '69 Dance

Thurs., Nov. 21, Modern Dance club held its final tryouts for its 1968-69 season.

Practices have been held every Thursday after school since the end of September. During these practices, which were open to all girls, the prospective members performed exercises and floor movements to get into condition and ready for serious dance work. After a few weeks of conditioning, the girls put together all they had learned working on dance problems.

One-year members must tryout a second time in front of prospective candidates. These tryouts were held Thurs., Nov. 14. The new second year members are sophomores: Jeanne Erdevig, Mary Ann Franke, Toni Jensen, Jane Johnson, and Meg Miller; juniors: Wendy Albert, Gail Baker, Amy Begel, Karen Hayes, Sheryl Jameron, Donna Liberman, Claudia Quiery, and Marcie Van Deman; and seniors: Loran Blaney, Cathy Martin, and Sally Whaley. A girl becomes a permanent member after being in the club two years. Jackie Chernin, Martha Heller, Rozy Lowe, Betty Salamun, Judi Siegel, and Wendy Stein are this year's permanent members.

Final tryouts involved group exercises, swings and other movements, rhythm patterns, and original composition, two to three minutes in length. The girls were judged on their movement, grace, and originality by the dance board, Mrs. Starks, the club advisor, and Mrs. Huelster, a professional dance instructor. Selectees are freshmen: Pam Crump, Jill Huber, Debbie Johnson, Claire Libermen, Laurie Mayerson, Cindy Remus, Holly Zwicky, and Chrystyna Mursky; sophomores: Margy DeVos, Mimi Herrick, and Lindsay White; juniors: Candy Greening, Kathy Heaney, Vicki Henderson, Kate Reynolds, Sue Safer, and Joanne Simon; and senior Jenny Meyers.

'Who Knows' Panel Reaches Final Round of Competition

Whitefish Bay high school battled to a 331-146 semifinal victory over Washington Park high of Racine on the WITL-TV quiz show, "Who Knows?", televised last Sunday.

The win advances the Bay team to the final round of the show, to face either Mukwanago or West Allis Central Dec. 22.

Team members Dick Berrong, Mark Friedman, and Donna Lieberman earned a prize of $50 by winning, while Washington Park was presented with $25. The money will be used to buy library books.

Whitefish Bay led through all the six rounds of the contest, but was particularly outstanding in the final one, in which the Bay overwhelmed Washington Park 170 to 30.

The contingent of Bay students attending the Dec. 4 taping delighted in the startling answers of team captain Dick Berrong, '68. When moderator Tony Karr asked the panelists to identify the college which Thomas Jefferson founded, Berrong instantly gave the correct answer, "The University of Virginia." (Berrong might have had an advantage here, since he plans to attend that very university.) Mark Friedman displayed his extensive classical music knowledge by identifying a short passage from the "Emperor's Concerto" by Beethoven.

Chess Tourney Starts Dec. 17

This year's chess tournament will be held on December 17. In this annual clash of intellect, some of the best minds in school will compete for the championship, as well as for a trophy. So, if you are harboring a desire to prove yourself go and sign up in the Rec office and try for this championship!

Subjects for the questions on the program included literature, science, history, mathematics, foreign languages, current events, sports, and driver's education.

Band To Present Assembly

The first of the Band's formal concerts will be performed on Jan. 16 at the Band assembly. The Band has been preparing for its concert season since the end of the football season.

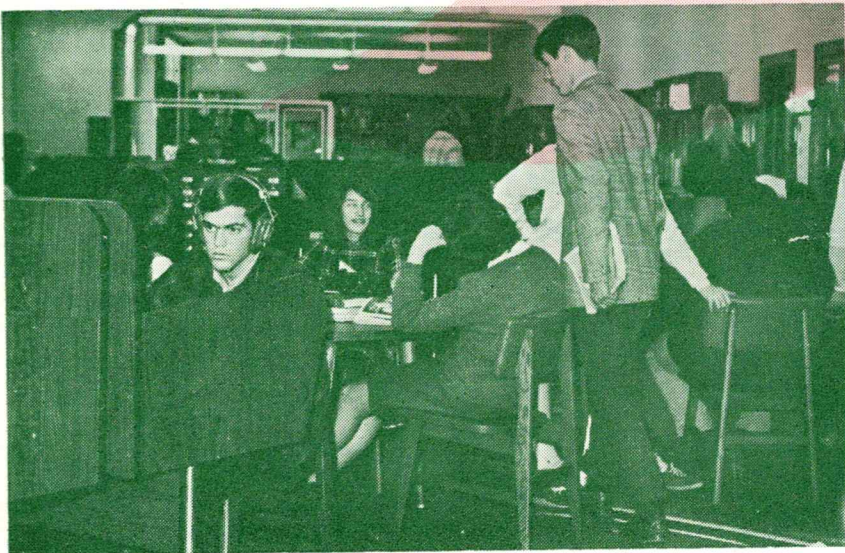

"This year the Band is once again varying the type of works it will be performing. The music in this concert ranges from contemporary to classic, and from march to popular tunes," Band president Bob Goldschmidt '69 reported.

Heading the assembly concert, will be the first movement of "Tritico" by the contemporary, Czechoslovakian-born composer, Vaclav Nehlybel. This work consists of the dissonant use of brass instruments and syncopated percussion.

The classic, "Toccata and Fugue in D minor" by J. S. Bach, will also be performed. This "master work in musical art" was transcribed for band from the original manuscript which was written for organ.

"Holiday for Trombones" will feature the trombone section in three-part harmony, while the tuba section will be featured in a rendition of a popular song.

The concert will conclude with the performance of "Crown Imperial March." This march which was specially commissioned by the British Broadcasting Corporation to be played at the coronation of King George VI in 1937. It has long been acclaimed as one of the most regal and elegant pieces ever written.

The remodeled school library is now open for student use. Above, Bob Pentler listens to a tape from the IMC and other students use the new facilities.

To quote a noted and respected faculty member, "Cry, what's the deal?"

In several of our past issues, we have asked you, the student body, to send us your opinions. Instead, all we have heard has been scattered, verbal criticism, such as the comments concerning our "generation gap" issue.

As a result of hearing no more than those sketchy views, we do not exactly know what you, as students, want from your paper. Because we believe that the school paper is not OUR paper, but is YOUR paper, we would like to publish what you want in the Tower Times.

Therefore, if you have any comments or suggestions relating to the paper, please submit them to the Tower Times in written form.

Computer Confesses to Report Card Mix-up

By Larry Lohmann

Why were the report cards so late?

Officials have said the two-week delay was caused by a hangup involving a computer out in Iowa.

For readers who would like more details we'd like to report what one student told us he overheard by tapping a phone line. He listened in when a school official called Iowa from a central hall phone booth.

According to our source, the conversation went something like this:

WFB School Official: Hello, Hello? Is this the Ames, Iowa, computer station? Could I please talk to the Cloverleaf 2 1/2 computer? It's about some overdue report cards.

Ames Computer Station Operator: Are you programmed to talk to that computer, sir?

School official: Huh? Oh, I guess not. But could you tell him anyway that Whitefish Bay is calling?

Ames Computer station: All right, sir. (Muffled background noises.) Oh, Mr. 2 1/2, there's a call for you! (Background giggles) No, Mr. 2 1/2, you just keep your circuits away from me. (Female voice subsides after a few chaotic moments.)

Cloverleaf 2 1/2 Computer: 2 1/2 here. Waddaya want?

Official: This is Whitefish Bay High School. We were, uh, wondering what was causing the delay with our report cards . . .

Computer: Oh, you're the joker from that school where the cards weren't even alphabetized right. Tsk, tsk. Some of you guys better shape up.

Official: The reason I called was to find out what happened to the report cards, Sir. We're (heh, heh) getting a little bit anxious about them.

Computer: That so? I thought the kids would be happy. After all, what the parents don't know they can't holler about, right?

Official: Well, as a matter of fact, sir, it's the parents who are starting to give us a little trouble. Some of them have even hired private detectives to tail their kids to find out what happened to the report cards. To tell the truth sir, it's a little embarrassing. I, uh, was wishing you could provide us with some nice, uh, scientific explanation that we could give out. Couldn't you just tell me what happened to the report cards and when they will arrive?

Computer: Hey, man, don't blow your tubes! I'm doing my best. After all, does a computer ever get a pay raise? No! In fact, right now I'm working my tapes off for peanuts. Peanut oil, I should say.

Official: But, uh, what about the, uh, report cards?

Computer: Well, that's a long story. You see, I decided to take a little time off last week to fly out to Las Vegas. That's quite

I Saw Three Ships Come Sailing in on Christmas Day

By Leon Cohen

It was early one morning, and I stood on a beach. And the beach was of fine sand, and I felt it slip through my toes as I walked on it. I scurried up a sand dune, overlooking the still beach, and I sat down on it, watching the sand, and the sea, and the dark sky.

Suddenly, the horizon grew bright, and the morning tide came in and a breeze began to blow. The sky grew red, then orange and yellow, with beams of yellow pouring like molten gold upon the face of the water. I looked out along the beach to my right and I saw a city, a clump of slum hovels piled like stones around the feet of the skyscrapers. And the city looked empty, and dead, and quiet through my binoculars.

I turned toward the sea, and suddenly I saw a speck on the eastern horizon! The speck grew bigger until I could discern a mast and a sail! A ship! I whipped up my binoculars and peered at it . . .

The ship moved softly, seeming to smile a quiet, yet powerful smile as it gently caressed the water and stroked the brow of the sea.

You could tell by the way it broke the waves that there was tremendous power behind the gentle smile of the ship.

And there! To the north-east! A second spot on the horizon! Another mast and sail! A second ship! Eagerly, I trained on it . . .

The sails were torn, and a mast was broken. The timbers were rotted and worn by many storms. Yet, it strode the waves with invincible pride, daring the sea to do its worst, for it would never die.

Suddenly, I saw something out of the corner of my eye. I spun to the north, and I couldn't believe what I saw. A third ship appeared on the horizon! With unbounded joy I trained upon it.

This one shone like a star, and a halo of colors from the morning sky drifted over its masts. The waves around it froze in their tracks, and wherever it moved, the sea was still. Her masts were green as tall pines, and her hull like snow, and the world seemed to bow before it.

Closer they came, until they met before me. Then, as one, they turned toward the city on my right. And the world held its breath and waited, as they crept toward the dead town.

Suddenly, the city was alive! The lights went on in the skyscrapers and the slum, and the people danced for joy in the streets, and the banker embraced the beggar this one day

A Whitefish Bay Student Meets Santa at N. Pole

By Amy Begel

If you have not already written your letter to Santa, I suggest you take a trip through your neighborhood toy department before doing so. Every year the toys become more elaborate.

Earlier this year, prior to the Christmas season, I found myself anxious to see what Santa would come up with this year, so I decided to visit the North Pole and find out for myself.

Santa's house was easy to recognize because of the twelve reindeer devouring his grass. This fact alone didn't make his house so distinctive except that one of them had a bright red nose.

Ignoring the "Beware of Reindeer" sign, I rang the doorbell and was greeted by jolly ol' Saint Nick himself. After I explained my reason for being there, he graciously consented to take me on a personal tour of Toyland, his factory.

As we entered the giant building adjacent to his house, he explained that this year's motto was, "A Toy for Everyone and Everyone for a Toy." All the elves were hard at work (except for a few, who had a card game going in the corner) and we were scarcely noticed.

The toys were incredible! The doll this year can walk, talk, wet, play, eat, grow, get sick—everything except take care of itself. The doll doesn't cost much, but the babysitter will be expensive.

By this time, Santa began to look a little haggard, and as he isn't getting any younger, I suggested we end the tour. However, Santa insisted on my staying for dinner and meeting Mrs. Claus. She looked like a plump female version of her husband, with her twinkling eyes, snow-white hair, rosy lips and cheeks, but without a pipe. At dinner, Mrs. Claus insisted that her husband watch his diet, declaring he wouldn't be able to slide down chimneys this year. I have always wondered how Santa managed to squeeze his ample body, plus his pack, down a 2'x3' chimney. With his hearty chuckle, he confided that his secret method was based on research on the life of Houdini, the great magician and escape artist, and consisted of three ingredients: a little coordination, lots of luck, and fervent prayer.

After the meal, Santa excused himself, saying he felt Excedrin headache No. 365 coming on. Taking the hint, I thanked them both, and headed south for Milwaukee, Wis.

of the year. And as the ships put in like conquering heroes, a molten cheer flowed out of the city and filled the earth with liquid light . . .

The light turned to mist, and the beach vanished, and the world reappeared before my awakening eyes.

It was early one morning, and I lay in bed, letting the morning stillness creep in my thoughts as ether creeps into the body. And I remembered my dream, and I thought in the stillness and quiet of the day.

I recalled the first ship, and I thought of one of man's most beautiful and moving religious experiences, the birth of Christ.

I recalled the second ship, and I thought of man's first struggle for freedom, the revolt of the Maccabees.

I recalled the third ship, and I thought of that time of year when the earth is at peace, winter.

Religion, Freedom, Peace.

I rose to my knees on my bed, turned to my window, and peered out.

The sky was getting lighter as the morning sun rose. The freshly fallen snow lay upon the ground like an ocean of stars. I opened the window, and let the cold, saccharine air fill my lungs, clear my head, and cleanse my soul. And I gazed out into the white world.

The Ship of Religion . . . the sweetness of the air.

The Ship of Freedom . . . the birth of a day.

The Ship of Peace . . . the whiteness of the snow.

"I saw three ships come sailing in on Christmas day in the morning."

Mr. Morgan Byers has once again created his traditional Christmas wreath, which can be viewed in room 321.

Peace, Brotherhood Are Presents We Need

Since we are not allowed to pray in school, I have written a letter to Santa Claus. For, as you all know (at least I hope you all know), Santa Claus is really our parents and right now they are in a position to help give us the best Christmas present anyone could hope to receive . . . a future!

Dear Santa,

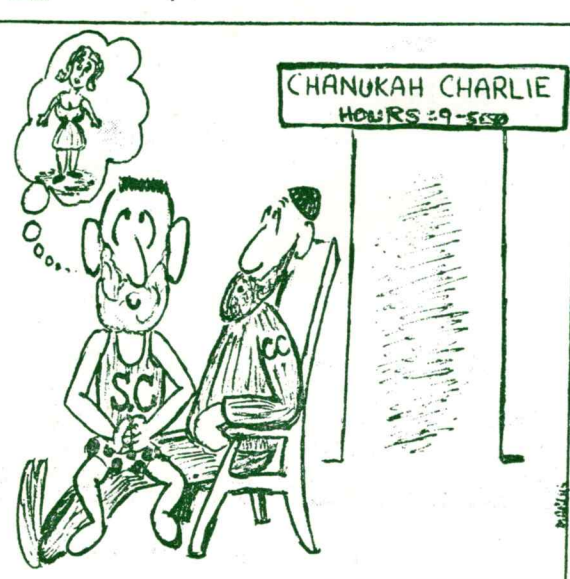

Because I am from Whitefish Bay, I would like to ask you not to bring me a new ski outfit, clothes, or a new car. This year I would like a future. I would like a future of peace and brotherhood. A future free of dissension and hunger. This would be the greatest present a person could receive.

In return I promise to try my best to take good care of this possession, to keep it well, never to break it and I will pass it on to my children. That is all I can give in return.

I know this is a lot to ask for and I know I can not expect this present right away. It will take many years to fulfill this wish of mine. But I know that you are trying and I appreciate it. I really do.

So thank you Santa. Have a very, very merry Christmas.

Love,
Me

Schmitt, Murr, and Carozza Attend Computer Programming Course

Three Whitefish Bay students have recently completed an introductory course in computer programming given at UWM for area high schoolers. The students, Paul Schmitt '70, Mike Murr '71, and Dan Carozza '71, attended classes each Tuesday or Thursday from 5-7 p.m. in the Physics and Engineering building. After class, they were expected to design a program for the computer to follow in order to solve a particular problem, type it out on punch cards, and run it through the computer.

The course was taught by Andrei Glasberg, M.A., a member of the UWM faculty. The text used was "An Introduction to Computer Programming — Fortran IV." An advanced course will be offered next semester.

The computer is a Univac model

Debaters Score Winning Points

The Greenfield tournament gave the team a total of 77 wins, 29 losses for the first five tournaments of the season. The JV team took the first place trophy in the novice division at the Nov. 2, West Bend tournament.

The varsity team, composed of Dave Felson, Dan Glicklich, Edie Herrold, Jim McComas, and Jeff Olenick, won four and lost two, giving them a total of 14 wins and 10 losses. The team is debating this year's topic: Resolved: That the United States should establish a system of compulsory service for all citizens.

Mr. Anthony Busalacchi, debate coach, is using the IMC videorecording facilities to evaluate the individual debater's style and effectiveness. Further innovations include the promotion of promising novice class debaters to the junior varsity division.

The debate team is now a member of the National Forensics League, and will attend the NFL tournament later this year. The team will attend the Greendale and Brookfield Central tournaments Jan. 4 and 11, respectively. From there the varsity team will attend the district, sectional, and hopefully, state tournaments.

Teachers About Town

Mrs. Gary Thiel, a member of the Whitefish Bay high school English department, (formerly Miss Tracy Ward) was married on Sat., Nov. 30 in Darlington, Wis. Mrs. Thiel plans to continue teaching after her honeymoon during Christmas vacation. The Tower Times, faculty, and students at Whitefish Bay wish Mr. and Mrs. Thiel the best of luck.

Bay Has Art Club

The newly formed Art club has been meeting since September. They meet each week on Tuesdays in room 343 at 3:30.

Susan Saltzman '69, spokesman for the group, said, "Art club is a social organization with the purpose of getting together all students interested in art. Art club is not just for students in art classes but for any student who wants to join."

Art club has no officers, therefore everyone participates. The members plan a student art exhibit, ice carvings, and are presently working on ideas and layout for a mural for the new addition. Susan added that Art club is a type of service club, but does not specialize in poster making.

TC Holds Annual 'Mother's Tea'

"Life with Mother" was the theme of the annual Tower Club Mothers' Tea which was held on Wed., Dec. 3 in the cafeteria.

This year the entertainment was a take-off on the TV show "The Newlywed Game" but retitled "How Well Do You Know Your Daughter?" Two panels of three unsuspecting junior mothers and daughters and three senior mothers and daughters each were called upon. The mothers and daughters alter-

Student Council Speaks: Franke Begins Council Column

In a recent Tower Times poll, a group of students were asked to what extent they were aware of the activities of the Student Council. The overwhelming majority said they had little or no knowledge of the council's projects. The purpose of this column is to give the student a better understanding of what his council is doing, and, hopefully, to create interest in council activities and the council itself.

Much of the council's time is spent working on its annual projects: Homecoming week, freshman elections, one or two service projects, the March of Dimes, and the school elections. These projects are important to the school and should be handled carefully and efficiently. But for the most part, in the past, Student Council's work has ended here. Its responsibility to the student body is generally forgotten. In the past few weeks council has become involved in issues which, if carried through, will affect the students. Not earth-shattering issues, but possibilities for making the four years here a little more meaningful.

The new addition contains a long, bleak corridor connecting the locker rooms and sports facilities. Student council is exploring the possibility of allowing each graduating class to "do their thing" on a section of undecorated wall. The senior class could, within limitations, do anything they wanted, something to be remembered by.

The council is also working toward a student bulletin board where students could post their own advertisements and announcements of out-of-school activities.

A plan to enable students to audit class has been worked out in committee. The plan would allow students to attend a class without receiving credit or a grade.

If the students wish to have a council which acts in their behalf, it is up to them to communicate

WFB High School To Be Evaluated By North Central

Principal John Hagman has announced that the faculty and administration at Whitefish Bay have launched a thorough evaluation of all phases of the present program. The evaluation is being made to determine how well the school is accomplishing the objectives it has set for itself.

The project is being carried on in connection with a program of the North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools, (NCA) which requires every member school engage in self-study once every seven years. Upon completion, the NCA will send a team of educators to help evaluate the findings and make recommendations for improvement.

Mr. William Bye has been appointed chairman of the Steering committee. The committee will coordinate the efforts of the faculty and administration in determining the adequacy of the various subject areas, administration, guidance and other student services, extracurricular activities, the program of studies, and the instructional materials center.

The NCA evaluation relies on the findings of the staff of the local school and a document known as the High School Evaluation Guide, published by the NCA. The evaluation guide established several guidelines used to measure the effectiveness of the school's present program.

Whitefish Bay will make a survey of its graduates to determine the results of the evaluation.

their ideas to the council. This may be done through the suggestion box, by contacting class representatives, or best of all, by attending Student Council meetings. Any student wishing to comment or to present an idea will be given a chance to address the council at a regular meeting.

November, 1968

Dear Students,

You can understand that I am not able to write a letter to every individual student at the high school; so this is a way to do it much easier.

Almost four months passed since that day I had to leave the U.S.A. I didn't realize how fast the year passed by. In a few months last year's juniors will graduate and your this year's AFS'ers will have to return to their countries again.

Very often I think about the great time I had in Whitefish Bay; every time I look at the pictures I took over there I get kind of homesick and I would like to be there again. Those of you who were friends of mine know how much I enjoyed everything during that year. I was proud of being a student at Whitefish Bay and wouldn't object to another year of school at the Bay.

When I came back to Germany I had quite a hard time to get used to the German language and many other things again. I had to study very hard in school, because I missed a lot during the time I was in America. Sometimes I sit about six or seven hours just doing my homework.

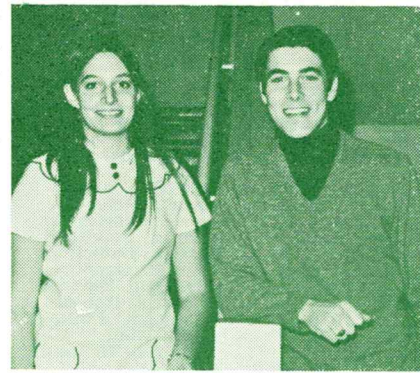

After the final exam (next June) the German high school students have to take at the end of the 13th year of school, I'll go to University. In two years maybe I'll come to America and meet some of you again.

Finally I would like to wish you all a "Happy Christmas and a successful New Year."

Seniors Study Spanish at UWM

Steve Belin '69 and Rozy Lowe '69 are both attending a college Spanish course at the University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee. This course is equivalent to 5th year Spanish and deals primarily with Spanish literature.

Rozy Lowe and Steve Belin

The university offers courses in college calculus and also in various foreign languages to present high school seniors who have been selected by the school. These students are normally in the upper 10% of their class, and they need a recommendation from their specific teacher and from the high school. This program is set up during the end of the junior year for students presently doing 4th year work in their specific course. This is full credit course, and involves a full year of work.

This class begins at 12:30 p.m. and ends at 1:20 p.m., so Rozy and Steve return to the high school during 6th hour. Both have to pay the normal tuition fee and provide their own transportation. But, according to Rozy, "It's well worth it."

The Coke Tail Party which usually follows the Mothers' Tea will be postponed until next spring because of a conflict between Whitefish Bay and several college dismissal dates.

Swimmers Float to Victory, Host Greenfield, Shorewood

Coach Morgan Byer's swim team coasted to its fourth straight win of the season by defeating West Allis Central 84-7 on Nov. 27. The varsity swim team had previously beaten West Bend on Nov. 23. The day before this they had beaten South Milwaukee and West Allis Hale.

Franz, Walsh Win
The mermen chalked up their first and second wins of the season by defeating Hale 71-24 and South Milwaukee 73-22. The Bay team placed first in almost every event. Gary Anderson won the 100 yard freestyle and Todd Thurwachter won the backstroke with a time of 1:03.1. Steve Franz won the 200 yard freestyle with a 2:07.8, and Bob Walsh came in first in the breaststroke with Dave Noffsinger coming in a close second.

The swim team picked up its third win of the season by romping over West Bend 67-28. Most of Friday's winners repeated again in a pool that was very bad for turns. This is one of the reasons some of the times were slow. Walsh again was challenged by Noffsinger, and they ended up with times of 1:12.5 and 1:12.6, respectively.

Dolan Wins Diving
The Bay team continued its winning streak with a victory over West Allis Central 84-7. Bob Walsh won the 200 medley in 2:27.7. The medley relay team consisting of Moses, Noffsinger, Young, and Bartels won with a time of 1:56.5. In the 100 yard butterfly, Gary Anderson and Randy Young placed 1-2 with times of 1:02.6 and 1:07.0. Steve Franz with a 54.5 and Paul Smith with a 57.7 gave the Bay another 1-2 in the 100 yard freestyle. Todd Thurwachter won the 100 yard backstroke and the 400 yard freestyle relay team won in its event. Bob Dolan gave the Bay a first in diving and Walsh again won in the 100 yard breaststroke.

This Thursday, the Bay will host Greenfield at 7:00 p.m. and the next night host Shorewood in a meet that will start at 4:15 p.m.

The rugged Junior-Senior intramural league got off to a resounding start in the first week of competition. Under the direction of Coach William Bye, intramurals have become an important part of the school's sports program. The league is divided into two six team divisions.

Each team plays a member of its division twice and a member of the other division once for a total of a 16 game schedule. The two divisional winners meet in February for the school championship.

The first game, two weeks ago, saw Sashimi (Sashimi?) defeat Animals II by a 42-19 score. Led by the rebounding of Pete Lindemann and the scoring of Greg Devine, the team ran up an easy victory. The second game saw the Hippo-Flies maul the Royal McBeez by a 39-20 decision.

Jayvee's Win Two; Frosh Beat Knights

The junior varsity basketball team has opened up their '68-'69 season with two victories and three defeats. In the opening game against Hale, they were downed, 36-33. Don Hoffman led the Junior Dukes with 10 points, followed by Paul Wellons who had 8, and Paul Anderson with 6. Their second conflict with Tosa West had a better outcome as Anderson tallied 18 to power Bay to their first victory. He was helped out by Wellons and Hoffman who each added 11. They continued their winning ways with a 47-44 win over West Milwaukee to christen the new fieldhouse. Again, Anderson scored in double figures to lead Bay scorers. Chris Mortenson brought home 12 points to help the cause.

The JV's then suffered two straight losses on two successive nights. The first, a 53-33 pasting at the hands of Waukesha and the second, a 44-35 setback by South Milwaukee in a game that saw Bay lose a 36-14 halftime lead. The game was cut short with 38 seconds remaining when Don Hoffman, who had nine points, was injured and had to be carried off the court on a stretcher. Paul Wellons scored 10 points in the same game.

The freshmen opened their season with a 50-44 triumph over Dominican marking Robert Albrightson's debut as frosh basketball coach. The frosh are led by Kevin Mathews, Joe Purman, Tim Brennan, and Bruce Gilbert.

up a good battle, both the varsity and JV's went down in defeat. The meet started out well for the varsity as 95 lb. Sean Callahan pinned his opponent in just 2:39. A Bay loss at 103 lbs. put the score at 5-3 in favor of the Bay. Jim Spira 112 lbs. then strode to the mat and completely dominated his opponent, 20-2. The Blue Dukes, then proceeded to drop the next five weight classes one by a pin to put the score at 8-20 for Tosa East. It was 154 lb. Tom Harper's turn next and he earned a well deserved tie.

Horvath Pins

The visitors took the next two matches out of the grasps of Mark Pepler at 165 lbs, and 175 lb. Chuck Salamun. Senior Bill Horvath, then stepped onto the mat and he promptly placed his Red Raider opponent's shoulders on the mat in a mere 1:22. This placed the final score at Bay 15 and Tosa East 28. The JV's also had a dismal night as they lost 32-20. Two forfeits, a Charley Gilbert pin and a Dave Egan pin totaled the only Bay scoring. To top off all of the younger Dukes troubles, the referee got sick. It is suspected that he suffered from "Butter Flyitis."

The Bay varsity got on the winning track for the first time this year by beating Waukesha 25-24 in front of a Dec. 6 home crowd. Sean Callahan opened the scoring with a tie. Bill Keenan 103 lbs. continued the Bay scoring by "whomping" his partner on points. Jim Spira then humiliated his opponent by pinning him in 1:58. This increased the Blue Duke lead to 15-2. After a Waukesha forfeit, Charley Gilbert was pinned, Dave Vetta lost a high scoring match on points (16-10) and John Wealton lost his extremely close match on points to put the score at Bay 15, Waukesha 13. Gary Phillips, 145 lbs., the last of the four very fine class of 71 representatives on the varsity then pinned his opponent in 3:18. Tom Harper, 154 lbs., continued the Bay pin string to three as he turned the trick in 4:55 after having an earlier pin taken away because of a failure of the clock to start. The Blue Dukes received a jolt at 165 lbs. as tri-captain Mark Pepler suffered pulled ligaments and was forced to default in the middle of the match. Pepler will be lost indefinitely. Salamun then lost his 175 lb. match, setting the stage for the Hwt. match. With the score Bay 25 and Waukesha 21, Dicks the Waukesha Hwt. had to pin Horvath the Bay entry in order for Waukesha to win the meet. Horvath just barely lost (4-2) and thereby gave the match to the Blue Dukes by a single point.

JV's Lose

The JV's suffered another defeat 35-15. Freshman Gary Franz 95 lbs. pinned his opponent to start things off, but the scoring pace slackened off for the Bay as a Joe Gruenwald pin at 120 lbs., along with Franz's match gave the Junior Dukes fans at least something to cheer about. The Waukesha meet left the varsity with a 1-1 record and the JV's 0-2.

Next Friday the Bay grapplers take on tough Cudahy, here at 7 p.m.

Blue Dukes Win One, Face Cudahy Friday

The Blue Dukes of Whitefish Bay came close to victory on many occasions through the first five games of their schedule, yet managed to secure a win only once, an impressive 64-49 victory over West Milwaukee in the initial game in the new gym. This Friday, the Bay will travel to Cudahy to face the Packers, and then resume play after Christmas vacation on Jan. 10 when they host West Allis Central.

Bays Drop Two

Almost a month ago, Coach Nagle's quintet opened the season when they bowed to West Allis Hale, 59-

52, in a game much closer than the seven point difference would indicate. With the Bay experiencing first game jitters, Hale managed a slim halftime lead. The Dukes came back in the second half to match Hale basket for basket. With three minutes left Hale reeled off eight straight points to win the game, the last in the old gym. Jeff Block led Bay with 13 points while Pat Wherry added 10.

The next week, Bay went down to their second defeat at Wauwatosa West, 66-61. Despite Jeff Block's career high of 30 points and his 14 rebounds the Bay could not withstand the Trojan's second half attack that wiped out a Blue Duke 35-32 halftime lead. Jerry Block finished a distant second in scoring with 10 points.

The highlight of the season came Nov. 29 when the Blue Dukes defeated the then unbeaten Mustangs by a 64-49 score. The Bays showed indifference to their new surroundings in the fieldhouse as they rolled up a 21-14 first quarter lead. Jeff Block contributed 13 points and Bob Mann four to this early surge. The second quarter proved a disaster as the team managed only five points and found themselves at the short end of a 27-26 score. Led by Block and Wherry they came roaring back in the third quarter with 22 points and went ahead 48-38. It was West Milwaukee's strategy to get back in the game during the last period by attempting to foul anyone in a blue uniform, so the Bay paraded to the foul line and made 16 free throws, with Steve Scroggins getting six and Dan Coulson, four. Big Block again led all scorers with 23 points, Mann contributed 11 points and Tom Gotthart grabbed 10 rebounds to spearhead of 24 and 19 markers respectively, but the other players added little scoring punch. The Blue Dukes put up a strong effort against a much taller South Milwaukee team but eventually succumbed to the Rocket's strength,

Lack of Rebounding

Sports

in FORMATION

By Rick Rael

Usually after a team has come away with a well earned victory, a coach will almost always call the win, "A real team effort." After a basketball player has scored 50 points out of his team's total of 70, he will probably state being modest but truthful, "I couldn't have done it without that help of my teammates."

Basketball, probably more than any other sport, requires a team effort. Wrestling is the opposite of a team sport. Here the individual pits his wrestling knowledge against an opponent. If he manages to beat or tie him, his points are added to the team's total. Basketball, however, needs a five-man unit on the court, with each player knowing his own responsibilities whether they be shooting, rebounding or setting up plays. If a team is lucky to have five of what coaches call "unselfish" players, the results usually end in victory.

Two years ago, Whitefish Bay had this type of a team and they won the Suburban championship and went to the State finals. Last year, the Marquette Warriors were a good example of a team working as a unit, winning 21 games and making the NCAA tournament.

However, when a team consists of five individuals only looking for their own points the results are sloppy play and most often losing basketball games. A professional team, for many years the worst in the league, are now near first place because they work as a unit, not as five individuals.

So, when a coach says the team is losing because they "haven't jelled" or calls a victory "a true team effort" he is doing more than repeating another sports cliché.

In a continuation of last year's policy, any student who can predict the state's wrestling, basketball, and swimming champions correctly will get their picture in this paper.

Bob Mann attempts the shot as Tom Gotthart awaits the battle for a possible rebound against the South Milwaukee Rockets.

feared the then unbeaten Mustangs by a 64-49 score. The Bays showed indifference to their new surroundings in the fieldhouse as they rolled up a 21-14 first quarter lead. Jeff Block contributed 13 points and Bob Mann four to this early surge. The second quarter proved a disaster as the team managed only five points and found themselves at the short end of a 27-26 score. Led by Block and Wherry they came roaring back in the third quarter with 22 points and went ahead 48-38. It was West Milwaukee's strategy to get back in the game during the last period by attempting to foul the first victory.

Without Jeff Block, who left the game ill early in the first half, the Blue Dukes couldn't stay with Waukesha throughout the game as they dropped a 69-60 decision to the pesky Blackshirts. The Naglemen shot out to a 23-16 first quarter lead as Bob Mann, Pat Wherry, and Tom Ebert led the charge. The big lead did not last long as the Bay was then outscored by a 21-9 margin during the second period. Mann again led a mild charge in the last period, but the loss of Block's rebounding eventually showed. Mann and Wherry contributed career highs 53-42. The Blues with good shooting from Gotthart and Jerry Block led the Rockets 15-10 at first period's end. With 6-5 Dave Skorupski and 6-3 Tom Tanski doing most of the rebounding, the south siders tied it at 21 at intermission. The visitors stormed out in the second half and reeled off the first eight points and eventually led by as much as 12 at 39-27. Pat Wherry and Gotthart, who finished with 12 points, led a small charge that sliced the lead to seven but big Tanski checked the advance and at the final buzzer the Blue Dukes had gone down to their fourth defeat.

Holiday Season Gifts Suggested

Well, it's getting to be that time again, to decide what to buy for everybody. And this holiday season we have some definite gift suggestions. Here they are:

- For Basketball Coach Nagle: Just a box of Blocks.
- For Mr. Gutzmann: A string of love beads to complete his wardrobe.
- For the swimming team: Portable sonar.
- For the debate team: Cough drops.
- For Mr. Hiken: A box of chalk with a built-in burglar alarm.
- For Riveredge: Peer Gynt, the English Department's pet turtle.
- For Quiz Kids Friedman and Berong: Pocket size encyclopedias.
- For Donna Liebermann: A purse size encyclopedia.
- For Mr. Ruffolo: A razor-sharp baton to keep the orchestra in line.
- For the Home Ec. department: A can of room deodorizer.

- For Jeff Olenick: A bassoon concerto.
- For Miss Trotter: Un joyeux noel, c'est tout.
- For the IMC: A blackboard.

- For Rick Swaney: A press agent.
- For the generation gap: A zipper.
- For FTA: Clairvoyance.
- For Mr. Hagman: A bottle of Excedrin.

WOULD YOU TRUST A DOCTOR IF HE HAD ONLY 8 WEEKS OF MEDICAL TRAINING?

Obviously not . . . because you know it takes at least four years of college, four years of medical school and another year of internship before a person's qualified to practice medicine.

There's just no short-cut to learning. Whether it's for a career in medicine or law or business.

That's why Spencerian College doesn't offer "quickie" programs in business education. Our courses are designed to equip you with the full range of skills and knowledge you'll need to win an employer's trust. Not just for a "job," but for a career with a solid future.

Depending on your career field, it may require a four-to-twelve month diploma course. Or a two or three-year Associate Arts degree program. Or a four-year Bachelor of Business Administration degree program. But in every case you're assured of a solid educational foundation to move ahead in your chosen field.

Ask your guidance counselor or business education teacher about careers in business. Or write us for more information and a copy of our college catalog.
